This study systematically reviews evidence on the effect of music therapy on the social development of children with autism spectrum disorder (ASD). The search yielded an initial pool of 1626 publications from which 14 studies were included in the review. From these, four studies were found to have sufficient methodological quality to include in the meta-analysis. According to a random-effects model, the overall effect of music therapy on social development was small (SMD = 0.35, 95% CI = [0.04, 0.67], Z = 1.90, p =.06, I2 = 0%). However, stratifying the data showed that music therapy significantly improves social development in children with ASD who experience social skills impairments (SMD = 0.46, 95% CI = [0. b7e8fdf5c8
